

building & window washing

High pressure building cleaning removes mould and pollutants before it eats into the paint causing it to crack. If surfaces have a build-up of pollutants and grime, then high pressure cleaning might be all that is needed to bring back the vibrancy of the building. For high rise and difficult access areas, our certified rope access specialists use abseiling techniques to inspect, clean and repair minor faults with little disturbance to tenants.

lower maintenance costs

Mould and dirt can wear away at your building. Pressure cleaning allows you to see and fix small repairs before they turn into bigger problems, lowering maintenance costs.

maintain property value

Removing dirt, grime and scuff marks will make your building look like new again. This helps to protect the value of your investment and reduce future painting costs.

prevent building issues

Hard to reach areas and tight corners are where mould and mildew thrive. Mould needs to be removed before it spreads and causes cracks in the substrate.
